

Diane Tinney

Director, Product Management
Bloomberg BNA, Software

Diane is the Director of Product Management for Bloomberg BNA's software products, responsible for developing and implementing corporate tax and accounting solutions. Diane has a background in cutting-edge technology, accounting, and corporate taxation. She has advised startups, mid-stage, and large, multi-national corporations in a variety of industries, including publishing, media, Internet services, education, hospitality, construction, nonprofit, and manufacturing. Prior to joining Bloomberg BNA, Diane founded several startups, managed a global corporate tax product development team, and worked for KPMG in State and International national Tax practices. She earned a B.S. from Drexel University with a double major in Accounting and Computer Science, and soon thereafter passed the CPA exam in Pennsylvania.
